

1.5) drug problems Thailand's drug situation is part of the social problem. which will exist in parallel with the development of the country especially The epidemic of drugs among young people who are major risk groups

In addition, drug problems are related to other problems such as crime. The problem of proliferation of organized crime The problem of unbalanced development poverty problems, etc.

1.7 Natural Disaster Risk

The changing conditions of the world are changing. Climate and global warming coincide with the global population increase, including country development which mainly focuses on economic growth, leading to unbalanced use of natural resources. This causes the environment to deteriorate, affecting the ecosystem until it leads to more natural disasters, and tends to intensify even more, with areas at risk of flooding, storms, and droughts flash flood Flash floods, landslides, tsunamis, coastal erosion, sinkholes, and earthquake situations.

1.8) Changes in the context of cross-border security

Movement of Transnational Threats Today, transnational threats are expanding rapidly. According to the globalization that affects the economy, politics, society and national security as a whole, especially the impact of terrorism and transnational crime. Regarding the issue of terrorism, the motive force of the ideological struggle remains strong.

expanding the ideology of beliefs to local people and groups with conditions ready to transform himself into a terrorist in many forms Both singles and small units The conditions that are important driving factors are grievances arising from the problem of unfairness. including economic, social, political, racial and cultural identity and the conversion of religious beliefs