

- monarchy The United Kingdom has a monarchy and the symbol of the country. Even without any political power but exercised legislative power by signing his name on various laws and exercised executive power by appointing the Prime Minister according to the vote majority of the number of members of the House of Representatives
- form of government The UK has a parliamentary democracy. with the King as Head of State The UK does not have a series of constitutional laws. but use the law and customary law in the administration of the country

- The UK is a country that plays a huge role in the global economy. especially the European Union The UK used to be a pioneer in industry and is still one of the world's largest economies, but today the UK is more focused on services than manufacturing.
- UK exports Although the UK will focus on doing business in the service sector.

But the main export products are machinery, automotive parts, factory products, natural fuels and chemicals. The main export partners are the United States, Germany, France, the Netherlands and Ireland.

- UK Imports Main Imports
- of the United Kingdom, including machinery, automotive parts lubricant
- Natural fuels and chemicals. The main import partners are
- Germany, China, USA, Netherlands and France.